Continue on up through the wood until you reach a gate and stone stile. Turn right up the track and left at the waymark post, along a tarmac road leading to the converted stables at Talygarn Mews.

- 4 After the Mews bear left to reach a kissing gate giving access to a field with a clearly marked path taking you to a stile in the corner. Pass a group of houses on your left before continuing right to follow the beech lined farm track to the main road. Cross this and turn right, back towards Pontyclun.

- 6 At a sign to St Anne's Church, turn left to walk through a small housing estate and head around to your right to arrive into the church yard. Walk past the church and as you bear right along the tarmac lane you will see the ruins of the original Church on your left. Follow the lane to reach the main road again.
- 7 Cross back over the main road and head left to walk a short way to reach a footpath sign and pass

- through a kissing gate on your right. Walk across the field passing a tennis court. Cross 2 stiles into the next field. Keeping the hedge line on your right exit the field via a kissing gate onto a small road. Cross this road and enter the next field again via a kissing gate.
- 8 Follow the signed path to the far side of the field and turn left to reach the corner of the field. Continue through two kissing gates to re-join

- the main road. Turn right, over the motorway bridge and, immediately right over the grass triangle and walk down the estate road taking a grass track on your left just past house number 16. When the path reaches a tarmac track turn right to reach an estate road. Cross the road and take the path between houses number 14 and 15. Follow this path to enter the woodland via a kissing gate and take the left fork at the first junction.

- 9 At the bottom of the hill go over the bridge and follow the path past football fields to arrive alongside a garage and meet a road. Wildlife

Did you know that Ivor Woods is over 200 years old!

Stop and look for Otter Spraints on the rocks by the Ely river, and keep an eye out for kingfishers, dippers, ducks, heron, and trout or sewin.

Sunken Pond of Talygarn Manor

It is known as Adam's well. It is an ornamental pond built by George Clarke as he set out the surrounding gardens, woodland and lake at the same time as he was building the house around 1880.

Talygarn Manor

There has been a house on the site occupied by Talygarn since the 13th century. By 1880 the house had been transformed into a grandiose mansion in the Tudor Gothic style. It was constructed of local stone and slate with mullioned and transomed windows and sandstone door-and window-dressings.
